End of the Year Schedule

School districts have been advised by the New York State Education Department we can no longer count half days as days of attendance. We will not be able to determine the final week schedule until the SED provides further guidance so they are listed as full days of school. The New York State SED is currently studying the question of attendance including half-days and is expected to report on their findings late in the 2017-2018 school year.

*Graduation! Big achievements and sometimes big parties. It is important to take the time to talk about pressure and making good decisions before they celebrate.
